BEFORE YOU GO

World Heritage since 1980

UNESCO inscribed the national park in 1980 and modified its boundaries in 2005.

Around fifty peaks over 2,000 metres

According to UNESCO, about fifty peaks over 2,000 metres (6,562 ft) rise above plateaus, pastures and forests, including Bobotov Kuk at ...

Žabljak is the base

The main base is Žabljak. The visitor centre, the Black Lake and the trailheads are on the edge of town.

June to August is high season

These are exactly the three months the park authority's proposal names as the main season with the higher price.

Large carnivores

UNESCO names brown bear, wolf and wildcat among the park's large mammals.

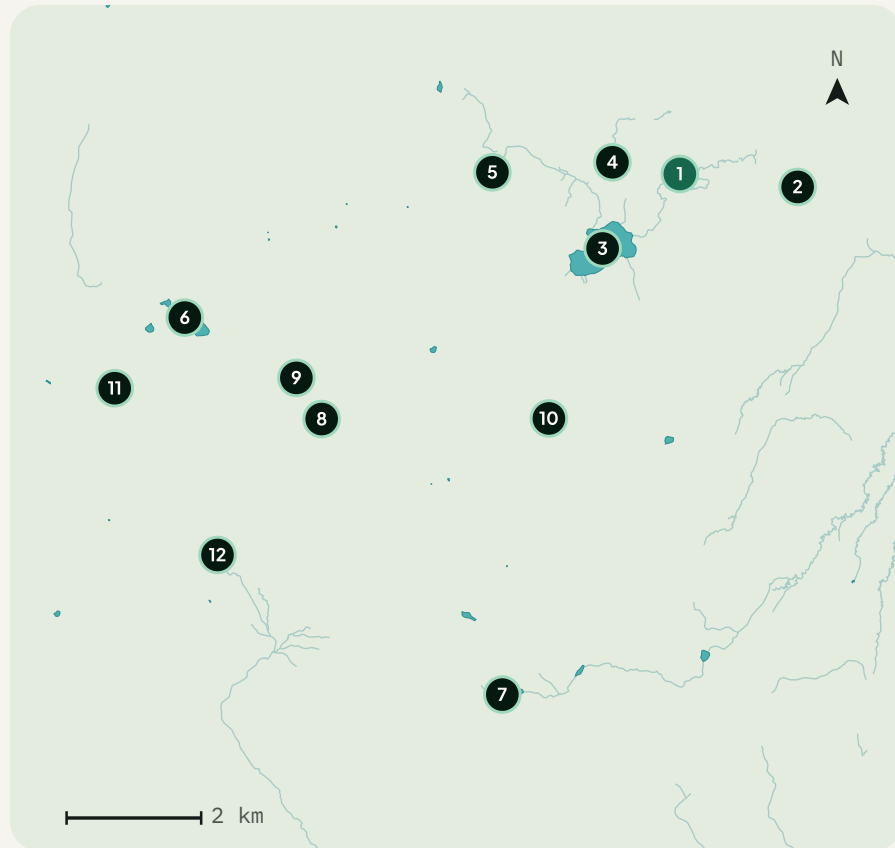

Rafting and kayaking on the Tara

Rafting, raft trips and kayaking on the Tara are explicitly on the park authority's list.
